Black History Month

Here at Cornerstone, we've been making great progress! In addition to regular homework help, during January, we focused on Black History and began with an exploration of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s life and legacy. The students read his "I Have a Dream" speech and were encouraged to ponder their own dreams for the future.

As the month progressed, we continued to study other civil rights leaders, and even kicked off Black History month early! Some of our 3rd and 4th graders have been conducting research projects on iPads. They're having a great time learning about their chosen historical figures.

Each day, students learn about a different influential black figure and on the following day, we quiz them with "trivia with Ms. Gina!" Our students love this challenge and it has encouraged them to pay closer attention to the material.
